
DATA PROTECTION PRINCIPLES, SINCE JUNE 2016

The terms of data protection principles describe your rights and responsibilities, besides stating the terms and conditions under which you may use this Personal Section. Please take your time to read the document carefully.

The terms "you" and "your" as used herein refers to the person interested in the Personal Section.

1. General considerations

FYP respects the processing of personal data in the electronic communication sector, the free movement of such data, as well as electronic communication equipment and services to ensure an equivalent protection level of your right to privacy and confidentiality. Therefore, the user conditions are consistent with the German Federal Data Protection Act (http://www.gesetze-im-internet.de/englisch_bdsch/) and German Telemedia Act (available only in German: <https://www.gesetze-im-internet.de/bundesrecht/tmg/gesamt.pdf>)

2. Data protection rights

2.1 Content of the approval

You agree that FYP collects, processes and uses your personal data only if permitted or prescribed by the German Federal Data Protection Act or any other legal provision or if the data subject has consented. FYP is not entitled to further use and/or a disclosure to any unauthorized person of your personal data.

By using the service provided by FYP you consent in using the personal data for the purpose described above.

To create your account and register in the Personal Section, you need to provide the following data

- ★ Your title
- ★ Your name (first and last name) or your pseudonym
- ★ Your email address

Your email address is exclusively used for the initial registration as username for the following registration as well as for sending service mails. Service emails are of such a nature that will inform you about updates and new available features on the Personal Section. Therefore, such emails do not qualify as advertising.

Entering, saving and uploading of your personal data is voluntary. According to applicable law, all your personal data are exclusively collected, processed and used for the purpose of the Personal Section's functionality only.

2.2 Anonymous use or the use of a pseudonym

You can register for the Personal Section anonymously or with the use of a nickname as a pseudonym.

2.3 Saving and deletion of your data

All information you share with FYP are saved for the duration of your consent only. There is no further data storage by FYP.

2.4 Right of privacy and confidentiality

FYP respects the processing of personal data in the electronic communication sector, the free movement of such data, as well as electronic communication equipment and services to ensure an equivalent protection level of your right to privacy and confidentiality. Therefore, the user conditions are consistent with the German Federal Data Protection Act (http://www.gesetze-im-internet.de/englisch_bdsch/).

2.5 Amendments to the data protection principles

FYP will inform you promptly, at the latest after 20 days, via the given email address about any amendments to the present data protection principles. Every amendment will be content of the usage agreement.

2.6 Right to withdraw

You are entitled to revoke your once given consent to the collection, processing and use of your personal at data any time without any reason with immediate effect for the future. To this purpose please contact the FYP team.

The usage agreement is also terminated once consent is withdrawn.

2.7 Security System

2.7.1 Security System

The content and the transfer of data on the website are protected by the SSL/TLS connection. Transport Layer Security (TLS) and its predecessor, Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) are cryptographic protocols designed to enable a secure communications system by transmitting documents and data via the Internet

In the personal section are the following data are collected, processed and used your personal data:

- ★ Name, rename/pseudonym
- ★ Addressee
- ★ E-Mail Address

Should you forget to log off the Personal Section service, you will be disconnected after an inactivity time of 60 minutes for security reasons.

2.7.2 Safty information

In case of necessary safety information which may affect personal data or any changes for these user conditions above FYP will inform you promptly, at the latest after 20 days, via the given email address.

2.8 Provision of c to the data subject

According to the applicable German data protection law, you are entitled to request FYP to provide you information:

- ★ On stored data about you, also where they refer to the origin of these data
- ★ The recipient or type of recipients to whom the data are provided
- ★ Reason for storage

2.9 Cookie Policy

Please inform yourself about our Cookie Policy, available here

2.10 End of the service

Should FindyourPension not be able to provide its services any longer or should the ownership of FindyourPension change, you will receive an information email.

In the first mentioned case you have time to check your saved data for 6 month, after receiving the information email. Afterwards the service will go offline and your data will be deleted.

In the second mentioned case the new/further owner, has to respect the processing of personal data in the electronic communication sector, the free movement of such data, as well as electronic communication equipment and services to ensure an equivalent protection level of your right to privacy and confidentiality in the same way as FYP does. However, it is up to you to decide if you agree to the changed legal relationship or not.
